

James Berry

SUMMARY

I have cross trained as an Apple App Developer with two years experience using the programming language Swift. I have successfully developed and published apps on the Apple AppStore. I am now looking for employment. I have excellent technical and logical skills which are beneficial in any type of role. I recently participated in a skills training programme which I excelled at - especially working as part of a team - taking in turns in a leadership role. I want the opportunity to develop myself, using my Business Skills and really integrate fully into the culture of my employer - large or small. I am a dedicated and conscientious person who is punctual and hard-working.
